Teaching Today for Tomorrow

Spring 2018 Plenary Session
TUESDAY, MARCH 27, 2018 | NOON–3 P.M.
ASSEMBLY ROOM, WILLIAM PITT UNION

Program

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Noon</th>
<th>Doors Open and Complimentary Lunch Begins</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| 12:20 p.m. | Opening of the Plenary Session and Introduction of the Chancellor
FRANK WILSON, President, University Senate |
| 12:30 p.m. | Welcoming Remarks
PATRICK GALLAGHER, Chancellor, University of Pittsburgh |
| 12:40 p.m. | VALERIE KINLOCH,
Renée and Richard Goldman Dean of Education, School of Education
“Remembering the Past, Taking Note of the Present, and Conceptualizing the Future of Teaching in Higher Education” |
| 1 p.m. | NATHAN URBAN, Vice Provost
“The Personalized Education Initiative”
DOUG LANDSITTEL, Professor of Biomedical Informatics
“Changing Models of Education—Teaching Data Science as a Case Study”
LAUREN COLLISTER,
ULS Scholarly Communications Librarian
“Open Educational Resources” |
| 1:45 p.m. | Breakout Sessions |
| 2:15 p.m. | Panel, Q&A, and Discussion Opens to the Audience |
| 2:45 p.m. | Closing Remarks
PATRICIA E. BEESON, Provost and Senior Vice Chancellor, University of Pittsburgh |

All faculty, staff, and students are invited to attend.

The University of Pittsburgh is an affirmative action, equal opportunity institution.

Published in cooperation with the Office of University Communications.