Lou Fabian welcomed everybody and explained that the meeting would be shortened to allow for an updated tour of the Petersen Sports Complex. He then introduced Dan Bartholomae to report on the May 2010 Academic Progress Rate release.

APR. Dan Bartholomae gave a PowerPoint presentation summarizing the release of Division I APR data that took place in May 2010. Dan summarized the history, definition and application of the APR and gave specific examples of how the NCAA uses this rate to measure academic and retention of student-athletes. Dan also explained the differences between the APR and the Graduation Rates. A handout was distributed that contained the University of Pittsburgh's scores, and it was noted that all teams met the NCAA score requirements and to date Pitt has not been penalized in any fashion as a result of their NCAA APR scores.

The committee members present then proceeded to the Petersen Sports Complex construction site for a facility tour.
